Good practices

- To enable students to lead healthy school lives, the Student Cafeteria Mahoroba provides students with breakfast for free and dinner at half-price. This initiative is worthy of high evaluation.
- To enable students to spend time on campus comfortably, measures have been implemented to create spaces for students such as placing sofas, private booths, and work spaces here and there around the campus. This initiative is worthy of evaluation.
- The special liberal arts education course Mahoroba Personal and Social Education is a distinctive course created in line with the university's educational targets, and plays an important role in communicating the university's mission and goals as well as providing learning guidance, and support for students in their school life and job hunting. This initiative is worthy of high evaluation.
- Study abroad programs are systematically organized and implemented in line with the curriculum policies of each department, and these programs are effective in improving students' foreign language proficiency and advancing their career development. These initiatives are worthy of evaluation.
- The university issues a summary of implementation outlines for all departments entitled Department FD (Faculty Development) Newsletter, which is shared among all faculty and staff. This initiative is worthy of evaluation.
